RESCUE PARTIES TRY TO AID SNOWBOUND GROUPS

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Richmond motorists who have a desire to see snow where snow is snow and deep, need be warned that to make haste slowly is the best way to get where you are going when there is snow on the ground.

Some of the drivers who tried to get there in a hurry over the week-end came back on trains and buses and left their cars mired beside the highways.

One Richmond party got as far north as Modesto and then decided that they really desired to visit some friends there, instead of continuing on to the deep snow fields.

At that, there was enough snow in Tracy and Modesto to build snow men. As usual we found that gloves got wet, all too soon and the job of putting the finishing touches on the white men was more work than pleasure.

That was the first snow man we helped build since 1919 and we are willing to let another 11 years pass before we try it again.

On the return trip we counted 251 cars mired in the mud beside the highway and then got tired of counting. Hundreds of cars remained beside the road while the occupants continued the journey on foot or with the aid of motorists who kept all four wheels on the paved portion of the highway.

Incidentally a snowball made out of the slush to which the snow in Modesto turned around the noon hour, splashed just as hard and made as big a dent as they did in days of old. If you haven't tried it take our word for it.

After our attempt over the week end, we are convinced that there is only one way to visit the snow country. That is on a steam heated train. Leave your car at home; you will be money and worry ahead.

If you want to enjoy a real thrill take a trip to the snow country. The miles upon miles of white field and distant snow covered hills and mountains are inspiring sights. An inspiration to stay as far away as possible except for a sight-seeing trip.

And if you must go in your own or a friend's car, be sure that all the windows are intact and that there are a few hot bricks for your feet after you finish tramping through the cold snow.

County Mercury Mine Reopened

MARTINEZ, Jan. 13.—Working of the old Mercury mine, which was opened 50 years ago, has been started by Archie Bonnicksen, who believes that the old shaft will yield him paying quantities of quicksilver.

Bonnicksen has installed a re-tort, and will roast the ore at the mine.

YOUNG LAUDS WORK OF BODY

OAKLAND, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Joint Federal-State Water Resources commission held its first meeting here today to discuss water problems of California, particularly the proposed salt water barrier at the mouth of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers.

The meeting was called to order by chairman Dr. George C. Pardee, former governor and now president of the East Bay Municipal Water District.

The principle address of the session was made by Gov. C. C. Young, who declared: "If we are ever to settle this tremendous problem of water conservation, now is the time to do it."

"I look forward with the greatest confidence to the plans that will be evolved by this commission within the next few months. They will build solidly for the future of the state, which depends upon ample storage of water."

It was brought out that the economic and legal phases of water conservation will be far more difficult than the engineering bond issue. It was predicted, as the work of a $300,000 survey will not be done until December of this year.

Upon an invitation to cooperate extended to the special legislative water committee, Chairman Bradford S. Crittendon attended this afternoon's session.

The salt water barrier project was represented by Will Sharkey. The only officials unable to attend were Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation chief, and F. E. Weymouth.

In the absence of Mayor A. L. Paulsen at the meeting of the city council last night, Councilman A. B. Hinkley acted as mayor pro-tem.

A gratuitous peddler's license was granted to V. L. Negus of 550 Forty-first street. On account of his physical condition the applicant is unable to perform manual labor.

Mrs. Frances Helms, owner of the old Macdonald theater building at 1106 Macdonald avenue was granted a special permit to alter the front of the building. The work is to be done to the satisfaction of the building inspector, health department, and fire chief. It is stated the first floor is to be occupied by a store.

The monthly report of the health department for the past month showed 25 births and 11 deaths.

During the month of December the expenses of the Richmond Health Center were $485.88, according to a report filed.

CANELO CASE EXPECTED TO GO TO JURY LATE TODAY

Larry Canelo, Richmond musician and his wife, who has been in constant attendance at the trial are expected to take the stand as closing witnesses today in the trial of Canelo on criminal charges made by a 13 year old Richmond girl.

Unless unforeseen complications arise the case will probably go to the jury today. Mrs. Canelo who was ill at the time of the alleged offense has been at her husband's side throughout the trial. T. M. Carlson and Wilbur S. Pierce, attorneys for the defense stated they hoped to close the case today.

Witnesses called to the stand yesterday afternoon by the defense contended that Canelo was alone at his home on the night of Nov. 11, the date the crime is alleged to have been committed.

Mrs. Thomas On Stand Among the late witnesses called was Mrs. L. J. Thomas who testified that she and Mrs. Canelo were close friends and that she and her husband frequently visited the Canelo home. Mrs. Thomas also stated that her father and Mrs. Canelo's father have been close friends for years. Mrs. (Continued on Page 8)

Sunshine Camp Receives Funds

MARTINEZ, Jan. 13.—UP—A sum of $2769.95, representing premiums received by Supervisor C. Hayden for insurance policies and official bonds written for or on behalf of public institutions and officials was turned over to Sunshine Camp today by Hayden.

The check for the money was sent to T. P. Swift, treasurer of Sunshine Camp from the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland. C. K. Bennett, vice president of the company advised Swift that the money was being turned over to the camp at Hayden's suggestion.

U. S. OPENS OIL PROBE 4 KILLED AS BANDITS BLOW UP PAY TRAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—UP—A federal grand jury convened in special session here today to hear about activities of Pacific Coast oil companies and scrutinize their records for the past year.

The real purpose of the inquiry could not be learned as all matters before federal grand juries are kept secret. Even the amount of time that would be required for the investigation could not be ascertained.

Special Assistant Attorney General J. H. Amen of Washington, D. C., went before the jury to interrogate witnesses, who were executives of large and small oil companies with headquarters at Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and other coast cities.

Amen declined to comment on the case.

The inquiry follows a gasoline "price war" and the oil companies were asked to offer letters showing their code of business practices. Some of the executives openly expressed surprise at the request for the code, claiming it had been signed by them at the request of the Federal Board of Trade after they presumed the Justice department had approved it.

All witnesses called had apparently acceded to demands of Federal authorities and there seemed to be little likelihood of any objections, since the Grand Jury sessions are secret.

The hearing was opened with an unusual procedure. A court reporter was sworn in as a special assistant U. S. attorney so that a transcript of all testimony might be had.

Marin Air Base Goes To Congress

SAN RAFAEL, Jan. 13.—UP—The Marin county site for the proposed $5,000,000 army air bombing base has been recommended to Congress by the War Department. It was disclosed today in a communication to the Marin board of supervisors.

LOCAL PARTY MAROONED ESCAPES

Three Richmond people were among those snowbound in Sonoma county over the week-end, it was learned here yesterday. While visiting property in the north, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schrader and William Coe, all of Richmond, found the roads near Yosemite valley blocked with snow drifts. As a result, the three were forced to stay at a ranch owned by Louis Schrader until yesterday morning. A heavy call to a garage brought a towing truck that bucked the huge drifts and pulled the Schrader car to the open highway.

The three reached Richmond late yesterday afternoon, none the worse for their experience. They reported that snow was still falling heavily in the north.

Schrader and Coe are connected with the L. H. Schrader furniture store at Seventh street and Macdonald avenue. 40 CARS SNOWBOUND ON MOUNT DIABLO More than 40 automobiles were marooned for several hours on Mount Diablo peak highway Sunday afternoon as the result of a heavy snowfall, according to word received here yesterday.

Many motorists who made the trip to the summit found their way down blocked when a car (Continued on Page 8)

FLAMES RAZE SHADY GLEN

MARTINEZ, Jan. 13.—Fire, breaking out in Shady Glen, a roadside establishment in Frank- lin Canyon late Saturday night razed the structure, destroyed an automobile and threatened the life of J. G. Strother. Without considering the loss of the machine, which belongs to Strother, damage was estimated at more than $2000.

Strother, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Santa Fe railroad company at Glen Frazer, was due to go on shift at midnight, and was sleeping. He was aroused by the crackle of the flames which enveloped the room and barely escaped with his life. Minor burns were sustained, and Strother's hair, eyebrows and eyelashes were badly singed.

The resort, owned by Charles Kagoner and Fred Moore, was totally destroyed before the Martinez fire department could rush its auxiliary chemical truck to the scene. Defective wiring is blamed by firemen as the cause of the blaze. A gasoline pump and gasoline tanks at an adjoining service station, were saved by the fire department.

Flames Peril Pittsburg School

PITTSBURG, Jan. 13.—Believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion, fire last night broke out in the basement of the manual training building of the Pittsburg grammar school and for a time threatened destruction of the entire building. Firemen estimated the loss at $500.

A rigid inquiry was made by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Harrison and Chief of Police Charles Scudero, believing that the fire might have been of incendiary origin, but finally they came to the conclusion that spontaneous combustion caused the blaze.

50 DEAD, HUNDREDS INJURED AS FLOODS, COLD HIT ENTIRE U. S.

(By United Press)

Suffering, death and destruction was left tonight in the path of storms and floods which swooped down on widely separated sections of the United States.

Violent snowstorms on the Pacific Coast and in the Rocky Mountain regions swept down telegraph wires, marooned tourists and blocked roads. Blizzards swept the north central portion of the country, causing at least 50 deaths in less than a week and innumerable injuries because of ice-covered roads and sidewalks. The lowest temperature was recorded at Devils Lake, N. D., where it was 20 degrees below zero.

Many hundreds of persons were homeless; farming lands were inundated and scores of cities were threatened by floods in five states further south.

Southern Indiana, eastern Arkansas and western Tennessee and Mississippi all were invaded by flood water, which surged over dykes to spread wholesale destruction after more than a week of intermittent snow and rainfall.

Indiana Hard Hit The situation perhaps was most serious in Indiana where the Wabash deserted its usual tranquility to become a raging torrent. Arkansas also was hard hit by the floods, but citizens there were prepared for the high water after almost countless similar seiges in the past.

Fate of several persons was unknown in the blizzard locked mountains of California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona. Two persons were frozen to death when their automobile became stalled in the Mingo mountains of Arizona.

Prescott, Ariz., reported several persons stalled in inaccessible regions near there by the deep drifts. None had been rescued.

Wires Down All wires were down to the Grand Canyon, where President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico was isolated on his sight-seeing trip across the United States. He and his party were in no danger of privation.

A 14-year old Boy Scout was rescued in the San Bernardino mountains of California after being lost a day and night in the winds which screamed about the snow-clad heights.

Hope almost was abandoned for the finding alive of Maury Graham, noted aviator missing since last Friday when he flew into a snow storm near Las Vegas, Nev., on an air mail flight.

Hundreds of searchers on foot and in the air sought him in any one of hundreds of isolated mountain canyons. Unless he came across a miner's cabin or otherwise found shelter, it was believed that he perished in the blizzard which swept the area.

School Razed By Flames

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13.—UP—The old two-story frame Williams school was destroyed by fire today while 450 children walked into the biting cold in perfect order.

All were moved out in the ordinary fire drill and there was no excitement until the children reached the street and saw the flames. The building was to have been abandoned two weeks from today for a new fireproof structure. The estimated damage was $40,000 on the building and contents.

Bandits Rob Store Of $20,000 Loot

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13.—UP—Two bandits held up two shift clerks in the Alstock Jewelry store here today and escaped with diamonds valued between $20,000 and $30,000.

MANY FLEE HIGH WATER

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—The Wabash river gurgled water over thousands of acres of rich farm lands tonight in what was predicted would be the worst flood in southern Indiana's history.

Heavy rains and snows for almost a week sent the sluggish river rushing along until it lapped over dykes to spread destruction over surrounding countryside. The crest of the flood still was believed 24 hours away.

More than 50 families in the northern part of the city already had fled their homes and others were prepared to go as the water gradually seeped into the streets.

Volunteers Aid With the water ponding at the dykes here and further down the river, hundreds of volunteers were ready to fill in breaks. Should the Vincennes levee collapse, more than half the city would be submerged. The village of Elletts, rapidly was being flooded after the dyke broke there this morning. (Continued on Page 5)

BUS HEARING OPENS TODAY

WALNUT CREEK, Jan. 13.—Hearing of the petition for a certificate to run a bus passenger line over the Tunnel road will be held here tomorrow before an examiner of the railroad commission.

The petition was filed by Beverly Gibson of Sacramento and asks that he be allowed to extend passenger service of his River Auto stages from Bay Point to Walnut Creek and thence over the Tunnel road to Oakland.

The petition is opposed by the Contra Costa county Board of Supervisors, and District Attorney A. B. Thining will be present to attend the hearing.

Endorsement of the proposed service from the Contra Costa county Board of Supervisors in Walnut Creek will be presented to the commissioner by Gibson.

Woman Saved In Leap From Ferry

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Police said tonight that the second attempt of Mrs. Ilde P. Mayhew to end her life by jumping from a ferry boat while crossing San Francisco bay had failed today. She was dragged from the bay after a plunge from the ferry Santa Clara.

Equal Pay—Equal Opportunity

WITHOUT for one moment prejudicing every woman's right in theory to equal pay for equal work, and every married woman's right in theory to equal opportunity in the working world, it is useful now and then to note the justification in practice for both these rights. We believe that, no matter how a woman spends her money, she should be paid as much as a man if she does work equal in quantity and quality to his. No matter how a married woman spends her money, she is, in our opinion, as much entitled to a paid job as an unmarried woman.

Both cases, however, are strengthened for many by actual proof of the need that drives working women. On their behalf we pass along some of the highly interesting facts and figures about women's employment contained in the bulletin just issued by Miss Agnes L. Peterson, Assistant Director of the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor.

Women's earnings—those of married as well as unmarried women—form the last line of defense against the wolf at the door of a large proportion of the families to-day, says Miss Peterson. In many homes the wages of wife or daughters are the one and only means of support.

NOR are most of these women working because their men-folk are lazy. Nor do they make these men lazy because they work. Miss Peterson carefully points out that a money contribution from women is often a necessity because of the inability of so many capable and deserving men to earn sufficient for the family needs.

Of 60,000 women giving information about their share in family support, more than half turned over all their earnings to the family.

In another investigation of over 30,000 families, covering four widely separated cities, twenty-seven per cent of the workers stated that there were no men wage earners in their families, and over one-fifth of the women were the sole breadwinners.

Of 450 working mothers in a study among immigrant women in Pennsylvania, only 108 reported that their husbands earned as much as $30 a week. Sickness and unemployment are possible causes of reduction of the meagre income hung over the women like an awful dread.

A woman cigarmaker who had been supporting her husband and two children for six months because of the man's inability to get more than a very few days' work in that time is cited, in Miss Peterson's report, as a typical illustration of woman's need to shoulder the full burden of making ends meet.

Another representative case is that of a family with three children, in which the husband laid up with an injury for five months was receiving only $12.50 a week as compensation, and the mother was of necessity bearing the brunt of breadwinning activities.

SINGLE women, Miss Peterson finds, come in for considerable share in family support. In a study of over 17,000 unmarried women, one in every five were taking care of a family without any help from male relatives and one in every eleven were reported as sole breadwinners in their families. And the report adds significantly:

"It may be considered common knowledge that sons do not forego marriage and careers to anything like the extent that daughters remain at home because of the needs of parents or younger sisters and brothers."

For at least ten minutes, we hope there will not be heard the too familiar, far too fallacious assertion that most women—especially married women—work for "pin money," and should be excluded from paid work on this damnable sentimental consideration in mind!

"Educators find girls lead boys," says them.

They lead the boys? I'll say they do! A very merry little chase, from somewhere here to Timbuctoo and back again—and such a pace!

And I was fooled until the day The girl appeared. Then, I confess—Oh, she led me through to happiness!

You'll Break Your Neck

RECENTLY, while walking in the park, I saw such a delightful gathering of little tots congregated at one spot that I couldn't resist sitting down to watch their play. Near my seat was a fairly steep hill, and these little adventurers seemed drawn to it, as to a magnet. But whenever one of them approached it, a shrill call came from his mother or nurse. "Come back, you'll fall," and "Don't go up that hill, you'll break your neck."

Some of the little ones, ignoring the warning, showed their guardians how capable they were of ascending this "mountain." Others, intimidated, could not control their little feet, and did take the prophesied tumble. Still others drew back with many a lingering look, afraid to essay the delightful adventure. Ninety-nine chances out of one hundred, all of these youngsters could have climbed the hill in perfect safety had they been left alone!

Constant warnings keep little lives in terror. "Don't pick those flowers, they may be poison." "Don't go near the lake, you'll fall in." "You mustn't stay in the water any longer, you'll catch cold." "If you eat that, you'll get sick." are oft-heard warnings. Caution is certainly a necessary virtue. We must protect our children from real danger and teach them to protect themselves. But these constant dire forebodings will not teach them caution, but will fill them with fear. In time, the youngsters may become nervous wrecks, so timid that they are incapable of doing anything.

A mother I know thought her child unusually reasonable. When she came off the carousel without any protest whatsoever upon being told that "the ride might make her sick." One can easily see that this child had been so stuffed with admonitions of danger that she is in a good way of becoming a hypochondriac.

Could Blondin have walked across Niagara on a tight rope if he had had one instant of fear? Will our children be able to skate, sled, swim, play on teams and so on if we fill their minds with terrors? By arousing the youngsters' confidence in themselves and by helping them to surmount their fears we give them power! They are much less likely to get hurt if they are confident than if they are filled with fear. So, let us choke back all the warnings that are not absolutely necessary!

PARIS, December.

Montmartre These Days

If your Parisian seldom visits Montmartre, leaving that region entirely to the tourist who imagines he sees the real wicked Paris in the gaudy dance halls and mirrored bars of the district, tradition will have it that the bourgeois mater familias takes his wife out there at least once and that around the end of the year. The only way to celebrate Christmas for him is to eat, drink and be merry and dress suitably in a Tuxedo or dress suit of rather antique style. The performance is repeated on New Year's Eve. The same old tunes are played as in the days of our fathers. "It's midnight, Christians, the solemn hour!" And when that solemn hymn has been played or sung its inevitable successor, "Il est dans les vignes, les moutons." Midnight, very proud of their first evening gowns, pay their annual visit to the cafes and brasseries and laugh, and laugh as only those gay children of the "Light City" can. You should see with what naughty looks they measure the distance that separates them from the habitues of the gay joints. But a bottle of champagne soon makes them forget all class distinctions and the fraternization and socialization become general. Gin, whiskey, sake, champagne, vodka, Kummel, flow in torrents. Montmartre flames up like a jeweler's shop window such nights. The police shout one eye, if not two. Every human being feels called upon to sing those nights around Christmas and New Year's. Even the taxi chauffeurs. It's the one time when the Paris of the Parisians, after a dignified restraint for an entire year, abandons itself to joy and Bacchus, and how to pass unscathed, remarks a Roman correspondent. This is explained in the introduction to the Index Expurgatorius, written by Cardinal Merry del Val. This points out that in accordance with the canon law all works which offend against moral or religious beliefs are, for that fact alone, prohibited for Catholics, the matter being left to the individual conscience of the reader. Moreover, to get placed upon the index it is necessary to be "denounced" in a regular formal way to the Congregation of the Holy Office. Rather than the fear of giving unnecessary advertisement to certain scandalous works or because the reading staff of the Congregation of the Holy Office cannot be expected to read all the published matter in the world, thousands of books which would be expected to fall beneath the condemnation of the Church, pass unnoticed. Insisting regular processes against the various offending authors has become since an impossible task that the Congregation of the Holy Office no longer attempts it. A staff of at least fifteen times larger than the present one would be required, and a knowledge of some twenty or twenty-five languages would be necessary.

Changing Parisienne

The Parisienne is changing. Old Frenchmen, gossiping over their wine, may condemn her and grow sentimental over the women of their young days, but she can afford to shrug her shoulders at them. She is out to win the approval of her own generation. To do this she has had to fly in the face of tradition. Her outlook on life is far wider than that of her predecessor. She is a keen reader. The custodians of the Paris libraries will tell you that the mid-inette of to-day has a surprising discrimination in her choice of books. She is interested in sport. The Parisienne of the upper class is changing more gradually. The Faubourg St. Germain is still surrounded with invisible barriers that are hard to surmount. Although the French "jeune fille" is still guarded by convention, she has far more freedom than she had before the war. You will meet her now in the company of another girl, or even alone, riding or walking in the Bois, a thing once impossible.

Books on Index

Among the authors banned by the new Index are John Stuart Mill for his "Principles of Political Economy," Bergson, Descartes and Kant, Voltaire and Rousseau are also labeled "black sheep." Both the younger and the elder Dumas, Fielding, Sterne and Addison are on the prohibited list while among the moderns stands the name of d'Annunzio, the great Italian poet. Numbers of religious works of an ultra-modern character of the present day appear, however.

I LEARN a lot from my dog. I learn how really stupid I am when it comes to "reading" people.

I would like to take my dog along when I go out on business. I would shun the person he would not go up to and receive a pat on the head.

It seems so strange that animals can "read" people while poor human beings are so stupid they come nowhere near it, despite the books telling us about the head and the physiognomy as indications for reading character.

Perfume Art

THERE are at least a dozen women who would give a great deal to know the name of Mrs. C's perfume. As it happens Mrs. C uses a scent that is famous, but so subtly, so artfully does she employ it that it is a matter of delightful or intriguing mystery to many. To us she never seems to be perfumed. Rather there is about her a teasing, a highly individual and unforgettable atmosphere of fragrance. A fragrance as fresh and simple and exotic as that of some wild jungle flower. And once we made bold to ask her how she achieved her simply marvelous perfume effects.

"By rigidly practicing your theories," she told us. Believe it or not, we weren't the least puffed up about it. We had thought she possessed some secret and revolutionary method of applying perfume, something brand new that we could rush into print with for your special benefit.

One thing she does do, however, that is novel, interesting and wonderfully practical. Periodically, she sets her perfume burner to work in her clothes closet, shutting the door on it securely. But, before she does this, she first throws wide the windows and gives her clothes closet and all its treasures a lavish bath in crisp new air. No wonder her fragrance is eternally fresh.

Now with regard to the other more familiar perfume laws, Mrs. C adheres strictly to the rule that perfume must never, never be applied directly to one's garments. In her glove and hankie boxes, and among her lingerie are scattered little mounds of cotton touched with the favorite aroma. The little mounds are changed every so often, too.

When the handkerchiefs and underwear are laundered, they are rinsed in water containing a few drops of toilet water and dried over a pad lightly sprayed with the matching perfume.

Clothes hangers, garment bags and hat linings, each holds its delicately perfumed tuft of cotton and each has its tuft changed periodically. And if all may sound like a lot of work, but it isn't. Even if it were, doesn't the

TEEN-YEAR-OLD

A TEEN-YEAR-OLD girl related to her mother that the teacher had "called her down" for deceit and had asked her questions about her home life. The mother instantly became indignant and declared she would tell that teacher that she was able to correct her own child and the teacher would do better to stick to the teaching she is being paid for.

Parents like this do not realize that they are real obstacles in the school life of their children. This attitude is the result of parental unfamiliarity with present day school methods.

The progressive teacher of to-day is not merely concerned with the intellectual side of the child's life. She is sympathetic and she well understands the difficulties some children have to contend with outside of the school. She knows school progress depends largely upon individual traits, so she is interested in the child's environment and home relationships, and thus character building has become a large part of the school curriculum. Many a teacher has saved a child from drifting into evil ways, while rarely is the number of those who have been an inspiration to noble efforts and the consequent success of those who have come under their influence in the daily school life.

There are parents who appreciate this school aid in the character building of their children. They understand how fortunate their children are to be under the influence of such an observant and efficient teacher.

When a pupil fails to make satisfactory progress in school, the teacher turns her attention to that particular child to ascertain under what handicaps this pupil is trying to carry on the work of the grade. She knows the emotional life of a child has a strong bearing on his progress and is often the cause of failure. She watches the child closely, she asks questions and often discovers the reason. She takes steps to stimulate the child to an honest effort and sometimes she is successful, but how many children are completely satisfied with home co-operation in this.

A DISH A DAY

By Nancy Morris

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

When the ages of the family group range from seven to seventy, meal planning requires thought and careful consideration of the individual food needs. Not only must the little ones and the oldest members be kept in condition, but the working adults, too, must be well fed.

Just how to adjust the table to meet these individual needs depends upon the family and their preferences, the home-maker and her culinary skill and, last but not least, the budget.

Breakfast does not present many difficulties as fruit, a cereal and milk or cream, some bread, a sweet and coffee, tea or milk answer most demands.

Luncheon a short time of refreshment for the working adult is the main meal for the child and the old. Dinner at night is the real meat for the adult and a simple one for the rest of the household.

Often the same meat planned for dinner and aged and dressed up please the active adults. A variation of an old sweet is this:

CUSTARD CREAM

Four eggs. One-half cup sugar or less.

One-fourth teaspoon salt or less. Four cups milk. One teaspoon vanilla. Cooking time: Six to eight mins. One tablespoon gelatin. Two tablespoons cold water. Chilling time: About one hour. Maraschino cherries or crushed pineapple, drained. Servings: Eight.

The whipped cream and shredded cherries or crushed pineapple, garnish the dessert served the adults. Almost any fruit may be used. Or the thickened cream may be poured into glasses lined with lady fingers for a special dessert. At serving time a puff of whipped cream and a cherry decorate each cream.

To make the custard known as soft-custard, heat the milk to the scalding point in the double boiler. Beat the eggs slightly in a bowl and add the sugar and salt. Slowly pour the scalding milk over the mixture and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Return the cream to the double boiler and cook gently until it coats a metal spoon, or from six to eight minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire, add the vanilla.

Five minutes before the cream is done soak the gelatin in the cold water. Add the softened to the cream and stir gently about five minutes. Set aside to cool, and when it begins to thicken pour into individual glasses.

Chill an hour in the refrigerator or until cold and set.

THE SPIRIT OF YOUTH carry on—Avoid that future shadow

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Avoid the snags along the common-sense path to fitness and fashion. Don't let over-indulgence deprive you of the tantalizing contour of the modern figure. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain the graceful, modern figure with its captivating curves.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

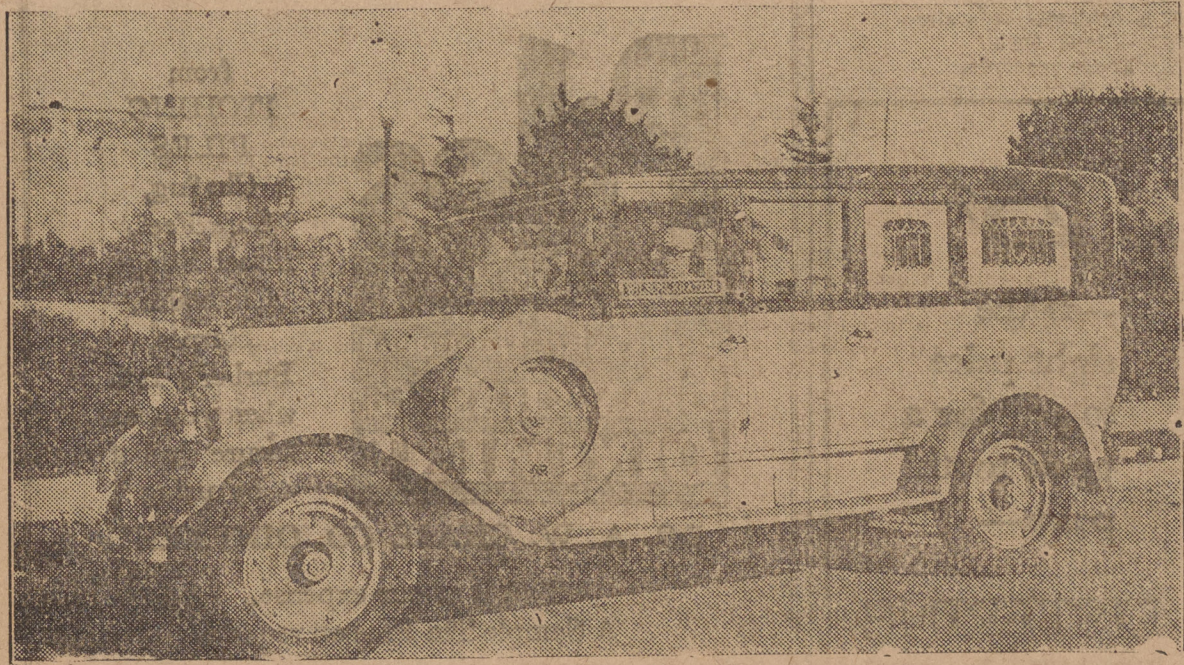

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

AFFLICTIONS BARRED BY STATE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—It may be easy enough to get out of California with a disease—but try and crash the state borders with any one of a long list of communicable afflictions.

The state department of public health has promulgated a strict set of rules governing the admittance of persons entering the state who have, or are suspected of having, communicable diseases. Trachoma, ringworm, favus, tuberculosis, venereal diseases, plague, cholera, yellow fever, typhus fever, smallpox, leprosy—and a host of others are included in the list which will probably exclude aliens.

Close cooperation is had by the state with federal authorities, particularly at seaports and on the Mexican border.

Warned by the recent epidemic of meningitis in California, this disease is carefully guarded against, starting from the time the ship leaves a foreign port bound for these shores.

Steering passengers are maintained in noncommunicating groups—all the passengers from each port being segregated into separate quarters. Individual feeding supplies must be used for each of these groups and all are carefully sterilized.

Medical inspection is demanded once a day and any passenger showing symptoms is hustled away to the ship hospital.

Even such minor disturbances as scarlet fever, diphtheria, influenza and hooping cough are held on shipboard until the health officer at the port of destination can be informed. Disposal is made by him of cases.

Mexican border stations are strictly manned in the fight to prevent disease coming into California. Vaccination is insisted upon for all for smallpox. Where immigrants pass through plateau regions they must submit to delousing methods to cleanse them of possibility of carrying insects from infested plants in the plateau.

Interstate commerce is guarded, to assure that no disease from other states will pass into California. All water brought on common carriers must be certified.

Those suffering from most communicable diseases are allowed to travel between states, but they must proceed under proper safeguards.

"If you want this dog, you can have him," the man said. Board told Dr. Farlinger. He thrust the leash in Board's hand and fled.

Mrs. Board took the dog to the Farlinger home and turned him over to his joyous owner.

Yesterday Dr. Farlinger sent a check for $25, the reward he had offered for the safe return of the animal.

Anti-Glare Device Works Fine; Except It Shuts Off Light

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—UP—Mack Smith of Santa Monica had a swell scheme to take the glare out of headlights—if it only worked.

Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles, received the device from the inventor.

"I ask you to please test it," he said on with string," pleaded Smith. Snook inspected the apparatus. It looked like a cross between a helicopter and a windmill. Set upon a crossbar was a four bladed propeller, and attached to the propeller was a circular strip of celluloid shaped like a large cinnamon roll, to revolve in front of the lights.

Snook turned the model over to one of his employees to test. After one trial the employee reported:

"It works. Absolutely eliminates all glare. Unfortunately it has one drawback. In eliminating the glare it also eliminates all the light. Outside of that it's a swell idea."

LOWLAND RESIDENTS FLEE FLOOD WATERS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Hundreds of residents of the lowlands in Arkansas, western Tennessee and Mississippi yearly trundled their belongings tonight to higher ground in the face of still another middle-southern flood.

More than 10 inches of rain has fallen in the past week in Arkansas where four rivers threatened serious flood damage. The rain continued tonight, splashing in tremendous shallow lakes which were rich farming land only a week ago.

Travel By Boat

Residents of Bay, Lunsford and Lake City went about their business in boats when the St. Francis river spread fan-wise over many thousands of acres. The Arkansas river ruined scores of farms. Two hundred miles south, the White River spread similar devastation.

Further west the Ouchita river covered highways, washed out bridges and sent farmers scurrying for safety.

Hundreds of smaller streams in western Tennessee and Mississippi sloshed over their banks to turn surrounding countryside into an ocean of muddy, brackish water.

Most levees held, but engineers feared they would break if the rainfall continued.

Shooting Of Gophers Proves Expensive Sport

MISSOULA, Mont.—Residents of the outskirts of Missoula are thinking of protecting their homes with sheets of steel and bullet-proof glass, and of donning steel helmets and bullet-proof vests when they stroll in their gardens.

It's all because of a barrage laid down by youngsters and grownups alike in the gopher-infested fields.

Every Sunday the calm stillness is disturbed by the whistle of small caliber bullets, and the "plunk" of the lead pellets burying themselves in the sides of houses. Some citizens have complained that the bullets come so close that a breeze was felt past their ears.

Motorists have told of dodging when bullets crashed through their windshields. The random with which the bullets fly re-beminded one old treasure hunter of a Mexican revolution.

Recovering from the effects of corn medicine, which according to police she swallowed in an attempt to commit suicide, Refugia Soria, 15 of 210 Macdonald avenue, is now at the Cottage hospital.

After spending Sunday night with her sister, Mrs. Jose Perrazas of 440 A. street, Richmond, she returned to her home yesterday, where she was again reprimanded by her father.

The girl then went into a bedroom, found a bottle of corn medicine and swallowed some of it. An antidote was administered by Dr. L. St. John Healy, and the girl was removed to the Cottage hospital where she is reported recovering.

DENNY SHUTE LEADS L. A. OPEN

RIVIERA COUNTRY CLUB, Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Denny Shute, a young professional from Columbus, Ohio, played steady golf here today to outstep a fast field in the Los Angeles $10,000 Open tournament and rate as the likely winner of first money.

Undaunted by the predictions of many golf followers that he would "crack" during today's 18 holes which he started two strokes to the good over Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., professional, and tournament favorite Shute made every move count. He was not sensational but turned in a good 75 to make his total for 54 holes 222.

Horton Smith ended the day with 225, tied for second place with Bobby Cruickshank of Progress, N. Y. At the end of the first nine holes today Smith had clipped a stroke from Shute's lead but lost it and another when he shot a 40 coming in. The Joplin youth ran into five bad holes on the second nine, shooting each one a stroke over par.

Cruickshank played excellent golf to take a 74 and now looms as a dangerous contender for the big prize in the 72-hole event, which ends with 18 holes of play Tuesday.

Smith Shoots Par
The most sensational exhibition today was turned in by veteran MacDonald Smith, the Long Island pro who won the 1928 and 1929 tournaments and wanted to make it three straight.

Although practically out of the running for the title, Smith thrilled his gallery by smacking out the only par score of the day—71 for the 18 holes. He made the final nine in 33 strokes, three under par, by three birdies. The veteran's total now is 230. He shared this classification with Willie Hunter, Tom Kerrigan and Frank Walsh.

Three players tied for fourth place with 227. They are Chet Beer, Bakersfield, Al Edwards and Tommy Armour, Leo Diegel, Augu Caliente professional, was next in line with 228. All were considered as having outside chances of winning.

Johnny Rogers, young Denver professional, who gained temporary glory by leading the event the first day only to fade out in Sunday's rainstorm, made a 77 for a total of 229.

Amateurs Flog
Third round developments were fatal to the three amateurs who survived the qualifying play and as the affair now stands it will be a professional field day at the finish.

Charlie Seaver, 18 year old Los Angeles amateur, was forced to withdraw and return to his school books at Hesperia preparatory school in New Jersey.

The other two amateurs, Fay Coleman of Los Angeles, and George Von Elm of Detroit, shot 86 and 87, respectively, and dropped way behind Coleman's total reached 236 and Von Elm's stood at 244.

Portland Duck Sold To South

PORTLAND, Ore. Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Gene Staley, infielder of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league, has been sold to the Memphis club of the Southern league for cash. It was announced here today in a telegram sent by Thomas L. Turner, president of the club, who is in the east. The price paid for Staley was not announced. Turner said he would leave Philadelphia Wednesday for Oakland to attend a spring meeting of the Coast league directors.

Nets Seized By Game Warden

More than 41,994 feet of illegal fishing nets were seized by Game Warden W. B. Sellmer, off San Rafael during a two day tour of San Pablo bay and the river districts, he reported yesterday.

Thirty-two nets with illegal meshes have been seized and the owners are being sought, Sellmer reported.

Red Sox Prexy Scores Fight

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Red Sox declared himself tonight as "decidedly against baseball player boxers."

Quinn, in a statement issued after an attempt to match Bill Barrett, Red Sox outfielder, with Arthur—The Great—Shires, fighting first baseman of the Chicago White Sox, said that "no player connected with the Red Sox can enter any ring with my consent."

PUGILISTIC PERSUASION!

DEMPSEY MAY RETURN TO RING TO KEEP TITLE HERE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—Jack Dempsey said today in a copyrighted article in the Ring Boxing magazine that he considered Jack Sharkey the accredited heavyweight champion of the world.

But, said Dempsey, if Sharkey cannot defeat the leading foreign contenders for the championship, the old Manassa mauler himself might return to the ring later this year and keep the title safe for America.

"I have had my fling. The ring was kind to me," Dempsey said. "I'm inclined to believe that my second fight with Tunney was my last. But if a foreigner gains the world's title, be it Schmeling, Campolo, Scott, or someone not yet on the horizon, I may be prompted to reconsider for I still believe I can give a good account of myself."

Louis Sharkey
"On the face of things, I feel that I am done as an active participant. I feel that an American, Jack Sharkey, can well take care of the task of keeping the title in this country."

Dempsey made this statement in connection with his selections for the Ring Boxing magazine of the leading fighters in all divisions, formerly an annual task of the late Tex Rickard.

The ratings, Dempsey explains, are made solely on what the fighter did in 1929.

Griffiths Laundered
"Right now," he says, "it is Sharkey against Schmeling for the world crown. The winner of such a contest would be the undisputed champion."

Tuffy Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia., is ranked third with Phil Scott of England, one of the Muldoon-Tunney committee semi-finalists, given fourth place.

Dempsey rates Scott as one of the cleverest heavyweights seen in recent years, but says: "I don't think he will get any further than he is now."

Loughran Fifth
Tommy Loughran, whom Dempsey calls "one of the greatest light-heavyweight champions since the days of Bob Fitzsimmons," is rated fifth, followed by Otto Von Porat, George Godfrey, Johnny Risko, Vittorio Campolo, Young Stripling and Paulino Uzcudun.

Maxie Rosenbloom is given top ranking among the light heavyweights with Jimmy Slattery, second; Lou Scozza third and Leo Lomski fourth.

Mickey Walker is rated above all competitors in the middleweight class with Dave Shade, Rene DeVos and Ace Hudkins as the leading contenders.

Fields At Top
Champion Jackie Fields and Jimmy McLarnin share top rating in the welterweight class. Young Corbett, Vince Dundee, Gorilla Jones and Tommy Freedman are given the next four positions.

Reports from the southland indicate that the Trojans are preparing for the match with practices three times a week.

Next week, with the issuing of equipment and the opening of the University for the spring semester, the Bears will get down to hard work. They hope to take on a number of practice matches during the training period.

U. C. Crews To Start Season

BERKELEY, Jan. 13.—With the opening of the spring semester at the University scheduled for next week, crew coaches at the Berkeley institution today issued a call for their oarsmen to report for practice to open the spring campaign which culminates with the annual California-Washington regatta in April.

Coach "Russ" Nagler's freshmen oarsmen will report Tuesday afternoon on the Oakland estuary and a week later—Monday, Jan. 20—Coach Carroll "Ky" Ebright will call out his varsity. Prospects for both freshmen and varsity

Church Cagers Will Meet At 'Y' Tonight

The First Presbyterians will attempt to go into second place in the Y. M. C. A. Church cage league tonight, when they tangle with the First Christian aggregation at 7:15 o'clock in the "Y" gymnasium. The Grace Lutherans will have a chance to tie the Community Methodists for first place in the B division when they clash with St. Edmund's athletes at 8:15.

The First Presbyterians met with a little bad luck at the beginning of the season, but have come up the ladder in fine style during the last month. They can be reckoned upon to offer plenty of opposition to the league leading First Christians tonight.

The Lutherans were felled by the San Pablo Baptists in their try for the cup last Friday, and are now out for blood.

Soccer Team Wins By Forfeit

The Turnverreins of Oakland forfeited to the Richmond soccerites Sunday, when they failed to turn up at Nicol park. The game was declared in favor of Richmond by Ed Robinson, referee. The local soccer club drew a bye next Sunday, so the Richmond boys will have an additional week for training.

SANTA FE BEATS MOTOR FIVE, TIRES, NATIONALS WIN GAMES

The Studebakers failed to go into a tie with Garfinkle's city league squad last night when they were conquered by the rampant Santa Fe cagers by a score of 38 to 24. The Civic Center Tires swamped the Santa Fe Indians 36 to 8, and the Nationals were victorious over the Santa Fe Renegades by a score of 29 to 14.

Nothing could stop the Santa Fe quintet last night—not even the Studebakers. Although held in check during the first three quarters, the inevitable happened, and Santa Fe made a raid on the Studebakers' basket in the last quarter.

The score board read 6 to 5 for Santa Fe at the end of the first quarter. Studebakers came back strong in the second quarter, with the result that the score stood 11 to 8 in favor of the Studebakers when the half time came. Both teams found the bucket in the third period, causing the score to mount to 22 to 18.

Santa Fe Scores
Santa Fe then seemed to become injected with a craving for buckets, and made their last fierce rush that netted them 16 points in that last quarter. Santa Fe is now tied with the Studebakers for second place in the league, while Garfinkle's quintet still remains on the top of the pile.

It now all depends on the final battle of the league to be played off Jan. 28. There is a possibility that Garfinkle's Studebakers, and Santa Fe may all tie for first place in the finals. If Garfinkle's aggregation succumbs to the Studebakers, and if Santa Fe is victorious over Furrer's five, will be treated to an extra basketball spectacle.

Tires Win
The Civic Center Tires had little difficulty in trouncing the Santa Fe Indians last night in a one-sided contest. The Nationals received strong opposition from the Santa Fe Renegades during the first half of their B contest, but easily piled up a comfortable margin in the last two periods.

The main contest on Thursday's city league card will be played between Furrer's squad and Ben Mallik's athletes at 8 o'clock. Mammy's Place will tangle with the Santa Fe Indians at 7 o'clock while the Mastercraft Roofers will clash with the Santa Fe Renegades at 9 o'clock.

Liver, Gall Bladder and Stomach Trouble Relieved

2946 Morgan Ave. Oakland, Cal. Nov. 19, 1929.

THE FONG WAN HERB CO.

I am writing this letter to express my gratitude for the splendid results and benefits I have received from the use of the Chinese Herbs prepared by you.

I had a complication of Liver, Gall-Bladder and Stomach trouble with Successful sharp, stabbing pains in the lower right side of my Abdomen.

The region of the Liver was exceedingly sore and tender; so much so that even loose clothing became irritating and uncomfortable. My Stomach was also very sore to the touch and felt as if there were a lump the size of an egg in it. After meals, food which was very sour and burned the throat was returned to the mouth.

This condition steadily became worse over a period of a year. During this time, I was treated by two doctors without any appreciable results. Both decided that an operation was necessary.

By good fortune, I came into contact with a man whom you had treated successfully for an Ulcerated Stomach, and he strongly urged me to take your treatment. This I did.

Results were noticeable the very first week, and now, after six weeks, I am entirely free

HOOVER BOARD ASKS LAW CHANGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—UP.—President Hoover submitted his prohibition program to Congress today. It embodies one of the broadest reorganizations of the criminal law ever projected, including a plan for waivers of trial by jury in a large number of cases and commissioning all local police as Federal officers for the specific purpose of preventing transportation of liquor by bootleggers and rum-runners. Immediate action by Congress was started. Prospects are for passage of some proposals in a few weeks. Private and public opposition to various phases started at once, only the wets making outspoken protest. Some of the proposals may never be enacted. The outstanding proposal for transfer of the Federal Prohibition Bureau and its 2300 agents from the Treasury to the Justice department will be introduced Tuesday by Chairman Williamson of the committee on expenditures in the executive departments.

Passage Certain
Williamson's committee will then take up the bill and hold hearings on it and report it to the House, perhaps within a week. Its passage in the House is certain.

The immigration committee Tuesday will begin consideration of one of the most drastic proposals of the Hoover program—a plan submitted by Secretary Mellon to create a gigantic border patrol in which the Coast Guard would protect both land and sea frontiers.

America's present border guard would be consolidated and increased several fold from its present strength of 1000 men, at a cost of perhaps $10,000,000. Ports of entry would be increased from 100 to nearly 600, and customs and immigration agents would concentrate on handling the traffic through the legitimate entries with the Coast Guard transformed into a mobile force to guard the Canadian and Mexican frontiers. A total mainland coast and land-line of 23,000 miles would be turned over to the Coast Guard.

Action Seen
The Wickersham commission's report did not refer in any way to this border patrol proposal. It is understood the commission may not approve this rather drastic proposal.

Four other House committees to watch the recommendations were submitted are expected to take action this week.

The report, made by the Hoover Wickersham National commission on law observance and enforcement, does not mention in any way the Sheppard bill to make the buyer of liquor equally guilty with the bootlegger. Bishop Cannon and other dry leaders have strongly demanded enactment of such a bill.

The high points of the commission's report were:

Abolition of trial by jury in minor prohibition cases, with an amendment to the Volstead-Jones law to provide that unlawful possession, single sales, and other minor offenses shall be considered as misdemeanors, not felonies and punished by not more than six months in jail.

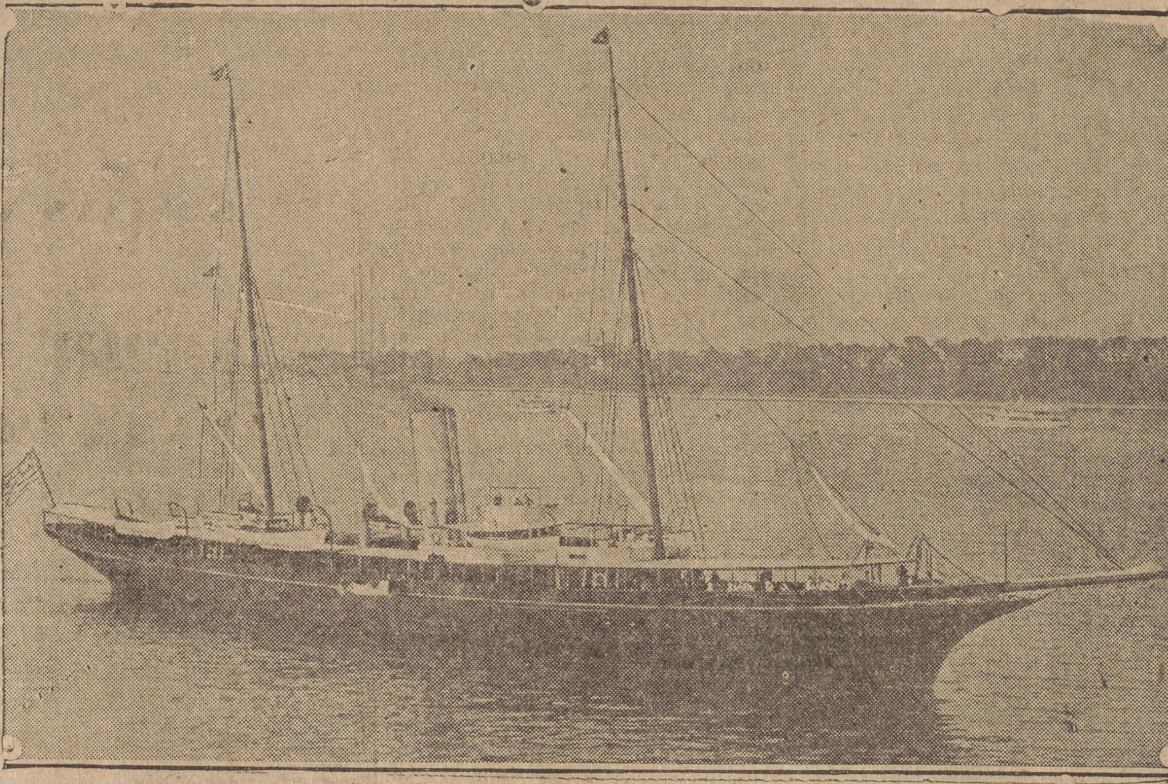

Judges Asked
This would be accomplished by allowing United States commissioners to try cases on information instead of indictment in the United States attorney so selected. Federal judges would have power of review and a person convicted thereunder would obtain a jury trial if he wanted.

An amendment to the Volstead law authorizing "any state, county or municipal officer" to arrest persons transporting liquor and turn the evidence seized over to Federal prosecutors for action.

The report also calls for more judges and more aid to Federal prosecutors.

LOCAL PARTY MAROONED IN SNOW ESCAPES TO SAFETY

on the upward route became marooned. It was evening before the machine could be extricated and the roadway cleared.

Although the toll road is in good condition, cars without chains are being barred from the highway to prevent a recurrence of Sunday's experience.

SOUTHWEST HIT BY BLIZZARDS
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(UP)—The mountainous regions of the Pacific southwest today were swept by heavy snows and blizzards, which hindered separate searches for those reported missing, one of them a night airmail pilot.

The hilly sections of southern California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona felt the storm touch of mid-winter.

The Western Air Express offices here had no cheering word concerning the whereabouts of Maury Graham, one of its ace fliers, who has been missing since he took off from Las Vegas, Nev., late Friday night for Salt Lake City, Utah.

Scout Found
One search ended when Richard Crawford, 14-year old San Bernardino, Calif., Boy Scout, who became lost while hiking in the snow-covered mountains was found safe by a rescue party.

E. E. McWain, of Los Angeles, whose automobile was found abandoned in the Mt. Lowe section, and William Rusk, reported missing on Santa Rosa mountain since he left to examine an asbestos mine, were hunted.

Eighty persons were reported marooned at the Noah Beery Paradise trout club on the north slope of the San Bernardino mountains. Wallace Beery, movie actor, dropped them provisions from an airplane.

Various important roads, including that through Cajon Pass, in San Bernardino county, and the Ridge Route to northern California via the San Joaquin valley, received snow, but were kept open.

The search for Graham was conducted from three main points—Milford, Utah, Las Vegas, Nev., and Bristol, Nev.

Plane Seen
The superintendent of the Bristol mine in the Highland range, 18 miles from Pioche, Nev., has advised Western Air Express that a plane hovered over the region, apparently seeking a landing place, early Saturday morning, then disappeared into a valley.

A 1500-foot emergency landing was being constructed at the mine late today, snow and slush being cleared away. Western Air Express planned to send a fleet of searching planes to the mine to work from there.

A radio-equipped ship was expected to be sent to Bristol to keep up a flow of messages to Graham, whose plane had a receiving set.

Planes piloted by Jimmy James, Fred W. Kelly and Alexis Klotz, Western Air Express mail fliers, left Las Vegas today to continue the search. They all planned to check the direct line to Salt Lake City, via Milford, Klotz was to return to Las Vegas via Pioche, which is on the railroad, a route that might have been followed by Graham.

Headed Into Storm
Whether he took either of these routes or a third, the beacon-lighted path via St. George, Utah, was not known. He left Las Vegas at 10:15 p. m. Friday and headed into a driving snow storm.

The Crawford boy became detached from a party of Boy Scouts while hiking to Crestline Sunday. When the others discovered he was missing they returned to San Bernardino for aid. Young Crawford was met on the trail today by a county forester and told him he had spent the night in a cave.

At Big Bear Lake, 200 persons were reported snowbound. Reports from Lake Arrowhead said that 250 were held there, and it was estimated that in other resorts along the rim of the world at least 300 others were blocked by heavy snows.

ARIZONA HUNTS FOR MISSING
PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 13.—(UP)—With the storm that lashed northern Arizona for the past three days abated somewhat tonight, rescue workers were seeking several persons reported missing.

Most of the persons missing were reported in Yavapai county, where the storm struck in greatest fury and the heaviest snowfall in 20 years was recorded.

Several travelers were said to be snowbound at Payson, where 30 inches of snow is reported on levels.

The heavy snowfall disrupted telephone communications with the Grand Canyon and left Mexico's president-elect, Ortiz Rubio, and party cut off from the outside world.

The bodies of Timothy Kirkpatrick, 35, and David King, 32, have been taken to Jerome, Ariz. They were found frozen to death late Sunday when their car was stalled at Mingus mountain and they attempted to walk to a settlement.

The local weather bureau predicts more snow in northeastern Arizona for Tuesday.

NORTHWEST IN GRIP OF COLD
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Snow again whirled over scattered areas of the Pacific northwest today with indications that wintry blasts would make an indefinite stay.

The new storm extended from Eugene south across the California border and gave Cottage Grove, Ore., its heaviest fall of the season. Motorists headed for California were urged to use extreme care of mountain highways.

Coasting accidents took a toll of three dead and several injured in Seattle over the week-end. Ray Whittman, 15, Helen Haw, 15, and Margaret Chabourne, 18, suffered fatal injuries when an automobile whirled into a loaded boat.

The driver of the automobile, Bud Jensen, 22, was held on an open charge. Police said he had been drinking.

Continued cold weather prevailed throughout Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia. The thermometer hovered around 17 degrees here today with indications of further snowfall within the next 24 hours. The Columbia river was frozen over at the Dalles with many persons crossing the river on foot. La Pine, Ore., reported a low of 12 degrees below zero Sunday.

OBTAIN AUTO PLATES TODAY

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 13.—Frank G. Snook, chief of the state division of motor vehicles, today issued a warning that thousands of motorists face arrest unless they file application for 1930 license plates before midnight, Jan. 15.

Snook said that despite previous warnings, many car owners in the state have failed to secure their new plates, and the deadline has been set for Wednesday.

Traffic officers throughout the state will be instructed to cite all motorists found driving with last year's licenses, at the conclusion of the registration period this week. Arrests will be made unless the motorist can show proof that he has made application for the new plates.

Through its offices in San Francisco, Oakland and 30 other cities in the state, the California State Automobile association is aiding in distributing new license plates.

Motorists must present their white registration slips and a $3 fee, or if the white slip is lost or has been destroyed, they must present the pink slip and a $3.50 fee.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA COLD WAVE BROKEN
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(UP)—The cold wave in northern California appeared to have been broken today and temperatures were rising. They had gone below freezing in some towns.

Snow that fell in many sections of the region Sunday probably marked the end of the wintry storm, officials of the United States weather bureau said.

Unsettled conditions with probable showers tonight and Tuesday was the forecast.

CANELO ATTACK CASE NEARS JURY

Thomas testified that after she and her husband had permitted a friend to alight from their car at Sixteenth street and Macdonald avenue they drove to the Canelo home to inquire about the condition of Mrs. Canelo who was sick in a hospital. Canelo was on the front porch of his home putting his dog to bed when they arrived at about 11 o'clock the witness testified. Thomas entered the home and stayed for about 15 minutes. Mrs. Thomas continued. During that time no one was seen to enter or leave the home the witness stated.

Other Visitor
Antone Mazza, groceryman from Point Richmond, was the next witness called to the stand. Mazza testified that he was a member of the Richmond Scot band and that Canelo frequently transposed music for him. On the night of Nov. 11, Mazza stated he visited Canelo at his place of employment to obtain a piece of music which was to have been transposed. Canelo informed Mazza that the music had been left at his home and that if Mazza would call there later he would give it to him. Mazza stated that he arrived at the home at about 10:30 and that there was no one at the Canelo home. He waited for a short time and then Canelo drove up coming north on Eleventh street. The testimony of the complaining witness earlier in the trial had contended that Canelo drove south on the street. Mazza stated that he went into the house, got his music, saw Canelo's dog and left the house.

Never Saw Girl
The prosecuting witness was asked to stand in court and Mazza contended that he had never seen the girl before.

Dr. J. B. Spalding called to the stand by the defense testified that he had examined the complaining witness and that crimes similar to the one charged to Canelo had been committed long prior to the date named by the girl in her charges against the musician. Dr. Spalding gave other testimony of a technical nature.

Walter Hattich called to the stand testified that he had been a pupil of Canelo for some time and that he had seen the complaining witness in the Canelo home two weeks or a month prior to Nov. 11, the date the girl said she first entered the Canelo home. Hattich said that at the time the girl visited the Canelo home when he was there the front door of the house was open and that the girl had remarked to Canelo that he had a "nice home."

Neighbors Resentful
Other witnesses on the stand earlier yesterday afternoon who testified for the defense included Mrs. Prudence Rose, next door neighbor of the Canelos who stated that she kept house for Canelo during the illness of his wife. Mrs. Rose said that she heard Canelo come in on the night of Nov. 11 and that his car was not driven from the garage later. A diagram of the two houses was submitted which showed that the bedrooms both front on the driveway as well as the kitchen of the Rose home. Mrs. Rose said that Canelo came home at about 10:30 put his car in the garage and then entered through the front door as she had the only key which would unlock the back door. She also stated that no one entered the house with Canelo.

Sometime after Canelo arrived home Mrs. Rose testified that she heard men's voices and that she heard Canelo say goodbye to L. J. Thomas. Mrs. Rose later identified the voice of the other man as that of Thomas. The witness further testified that she was unable to go to sleep and that if Canelo had again taken his car from the garage he would have to have driven it past her bedroom window and that she would have heard him.

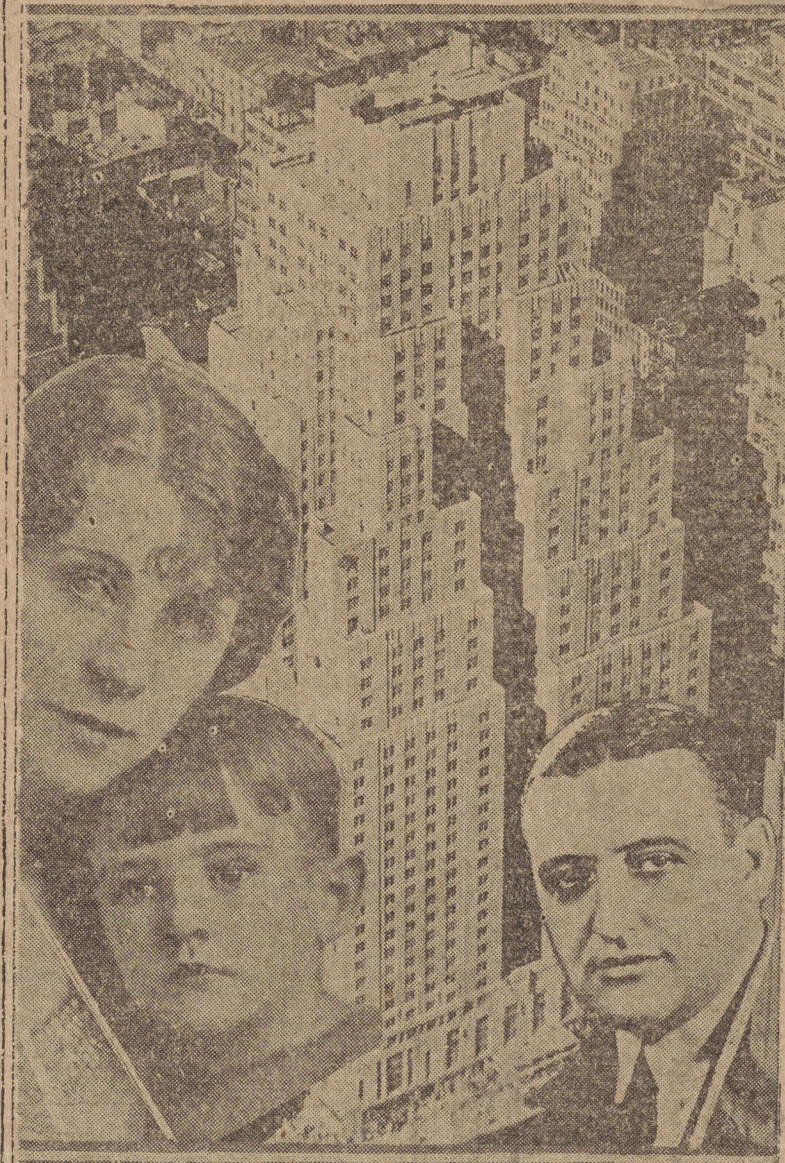

At Canelo's Home

Protect Your Furniture

A $125 to Rid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.
